DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

➤ The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

➤ Claims 36-39 and 76-85 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Specification in view of Agarwal et al. (US Pat. No. 6,201,276 B1).

Regarding claims 36, 76 and 81, Applicant acknowledges that is well known in the art a method of forming a device (see Figures 1-3 and 6-8) comprised of the steps: forming a first conductive of tungsten nitride (28, 52) and a second conductive (30, 48) and exposing the second conductive to a thermal process (see Figures 2-3 and 7-8, page 6, lines 4-12 and page 11, lines 1-9 of Applicant's Specification). However, Applicant fails to disclose incorporating an oxygen-free material into the tungsten nitride. Agarwal et al. teach a well-known method wherein the tungsten nitride is annealed to form a protective barrier (see col. 4, lines 40-67, col. 5, lines 64-67 and col. 6, lines 1-10). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the same time the invention was made to modify Applicant's Specification to include the step of incorporating an oxygen-free material into the tungsten nitride. The ordinary artisan would have been motivated to modify Applicant's Specification in the manner described above for at least the purpose of reducing the current leakage in the capacitor.

Regarding claims 37, 77 and 82, Applicant acknowledges that it is well known in the art to form and flow an insulator (34) over the second conductive layer (30) (see Fig. 3).

Regarding claims 38, 79 and 84, Applicant acknowledges that it is well known in the art to deposit a plug (46) and to flow the second conductive layer (48) (see Figures 7-8).

Regarding claims 39, 80 and 85, Applicant acknowledges that it is well known in the art that the thermal process comprises exposing said second conductive layer to an alloy process (see page 11, lines 1-3 of Applicant Specification).

Regarding claims 78 and 83, Applicant acknowledges that the second conductive layer (48) comprises copper (see page 10, lines 19-20).

Response to Arguments

➤ Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 36-39 and 76-85 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

➤ The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Narwankar et al. (US Patent No. 6,204, 203 B1) disclose post deposition treatment of dielectric films for interface control. Lu et al. (US Patent No. 5,913,145) disclose passivating a tungsten nitride layer (see Figures 1A-1E).

➤ Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
